By GLENN ENGLE

DETROIT (AP)—The state turned to more contractors today to back up its charges that six AFL Teamsters Union leaders extorted thousands of dollars from employers.

The employer representatives were summoned to testify at the examination of the six on extortion and conspiracy charges, now in its third day.

The examination, before Recorder's Judge Martha W. Griffiths, will determine whether the defendants must stand trial on the charges brought last month by a so-called labor racket grand jury.

Two Locals Seized

After the first day's testimony, Detroit Teamster head James R. Hoffa seized two union locals—Detroit Local 247 and Pontiac Local 614—which had been run by five of the six defendants.

Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Joint Council here, took over as trustee Thursday on orders of International President Dave Beck. The action automatically removed all seven officers of each local. But Hoffa said he may reinstate some of the officers if he is satisfied that they were not involved in the alleged shakedowns.

Defendants are Mike Nicoletti, president, and Sam Marroso and Anthony J. Liuzzo, business agents, of Local 247; Daniel J. Keating, president, and Louis Linteau, business agent, of Local 614; and Frank E. Fitzsimmons, vice president of Local 299.

Only Fitzsimmons was not involved in the trusteeship action. Neither his name nor Local 299—Hoffa's old local—has been mentioned in the court testimony. Hoffa himself was indicted by a "labor racket" grand jury in 1946 but he has been only a courtroom observer in the present case.

Yesterday's main witness was Thomas Courtney, secretary and treasurer of Charles J. Rogers, Inc., Detroit excavating firm. He told of a $500 payoff to Nicoletti in August, 1950, to put a stop to sporadic strikes and slowdowns by drivers. He said Nicoletti agreed to "cooperate" in layoffs or firings desired by the company, whereas he had refused to approve such action up to then.

Grant R. Sevier, partner in another excavating firm, said his company contributed $500 in 1950 for "Christmas presents" for 10 union leaders in Pontiac, where he had a big contract. The money was given to a man sent to his office by Narroso, he said.

The examination is expected to continue for a week or more. Maximum sentence on the charges is 20 years' imprisonment.

Atomic Power News Arouses Slight Interest

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—"So what?" This was the public reaction anticipated by Thomas E. Murray, member of the Atomic Energy Commission when he announced Thursday the government will build an atomic plant to produce electricity.

This plant is the government's first full scale attempt to turn atomic power to peaceful use. Information learned from building it will be useful later in building larger plants—a distant goal for getting cheap, practical and peaceful benefit from atomic energy.

Race With Russia

In anticipating a dull public response to the news, Murray said the fault may be the AEC's because while concentrating on winning the atomic weapons race it has failed to let the people know the importance of the other race going on with Russia: development of nuclear power for peace.

"Our people," he said, "badly need direction. We will not win this power race unless, as a nation we have as great a will to win it as we have to stay ahead in the weapons race."

Murray pointed out the AEC is in a dilemma: While flatly stating the public should have more information, he emphasized a need for secrecy in much of the work connected with atomic development since Russia could use for a weapon development what it learned about practical atomic plants.

Caution Necessary

This is one of the reasons, he said, why the government has to be careful about letting private industry participate in atomic construction. But he said that isn't the only reason.

Murray said that before deciding to go ahead with this new peacetime kind of plant, the AEC had to face a fundamental question: Would private industry, if permitted to do so by law, enter "aggressively into the full scale power" construction and testing stage? The commission decided the answer was no.

As an example, he cited the General Electric Co., largest operator for atomic reactor plants for AEC. He said General Electric offered to build a reactor "but only if the government paid the entire bill."

Mother's Voice Sent To Son Sick Of Reds

By JOHN R. MORRIS

BIG STONE GAP, Va. (AP)—Somewhere between this Virginia mountain spot and Tokyo, there's a recording in flight today carrying a mother's message to her hospitalized son, Cpl. Edward S. Dickinson.

Cpl. Dickinson is a 23-year-old farm boy who was captured by the Korean Reds and refused repatriation until last Wednesday, when he decided he wanted to come back to his home straight up on a southwest Virginia mountain where he grew up and helped out with the farming.

Big Chicken Dinner

He was flown Thursday from Korea to Tokyo, where he was hospitalized for a checkup. "Hello, Ed," the recording starts off. The tear-heavy voice is that of his mother, Mrs. Bessie C. Dickinson. "You don't know how proud we are you're a-coming home. . . . We're just waiting for you to come in so we can all welcome you home."

"And we want to have a big pot and a little one. We're gonna give a big chicken dinner and so is Keith Myers gonna bake you a big fruit cake. He said so."

The recording was made in the simply furnished living room of the one-story mountain home three miles from the village of Crackers Neck.

Proposes By Mail

Meanwhile, a neighbor girl Katie, Laney, said the corporal had proposed to her by mail. But the 20-year-old blonde, whom he'd never dated but who's "always in my dreams," has replied and suggested they talk further about it when he gets home.

She said she received a letter from Dickinson last Dec. 15 which read:

"Kate, I don't know how to say this. Maybe you will call me crazy, but I don't care. Kate, I would like very much to have you for my wife. I know that I never tried to go with you before, but I'm sure we could be happy together."

Earlier, his parents said they thought their son "had been doped" into refusing to come home. Mrs. Dickinson said a fellow POW told her Ed had been smoking drugged cigarettes.

Anti-Red POWs Will Not Listen To Propaganda

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Red efforts to persuade anti-Communist Korean War prisoners to return home appeared today to be stalled at least until next week and there was no indication whether the POWs would call off a sitdown which threatens the armistice.

An informed source said the North Koreans would wait at least until Monday to reply to Indian efforts to get the explanation program going again.

May Be Stalling

The explanation program has been suspended since Monday when the Koreans threatened a mass breakout if forced to attend. Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia walked out when other three Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission members—Switzerland, Sweden and India—voted against forcing the POWs to attend.

The Reds refuse to interview anti-Red Chinese prisoners who are willing to attend the sessions in place of the Koreans.

Of the first 921 Chinese interviewed only 19 decided to return to the Communists, and there has been speculation that the Reds might be stalling away time allowed for explanations to avoid a further propaganda beating.

Force Main Issue

Ninety days were allotted for the explanations, which must end Dec.

Floods Kill 100 In South Italy

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (AP)—Rescue workers searched today through wrecked homes in a dozen small villages of this southern Italian province for victims of devastating flash floods that may have claimed as many as 100 lives.

Torrential rains continued to pour on the stricken area from Reggio Calabria along the Ionian Sea this morning. They stopped abruptly at noon, but heavy gray clouds still hung over the area, threatening new downpours.

In the Reggio Calabria area alone 53 dead have been accounted for. Scores are missing.

Hundreds were injured in the disaster, the worst here since an earthquake leveled the region in 1908.

The floods struck without warning just before dawn Thursday, catching many persons asleep in their beds. They were preceded by 12 hours of heavy rains that turned large areas into seas of mud, but caused only minor damage.

Then suddenly, tremendous cloudbursts struck across the toe of the Italian Boot, Mountains forming a huge bowl only a few miles from the coast caught the water and sent it racing towards the sea through steep gullies that are usually dry at this season.

Freed Convicts Weep With Joy

BROCKTOWN, Mass. (AP)—Seven men, found to have been illegally committed as prisoners, were freed today after serving terms in state institutions ranging from 6 to 41 years.

All seven men wept with joy when their freedom was ordered Thursday by Superior Court Judge Felix Forte on the ground their commitment was illegal and without even a hearing in some cases. Judge Forte found one of the men, Elmer Bridges, had been a prisoner for 41 of his 51 years on a case of mistaken identity.

The judge said Bridges was locked up as a boy of 10 on a charge of truancy from Tewksbury schools when, in fact, it was Bridges' brother who was the truant.

Bridges was so overjoyed on his release he shook hands with everyone in the courtroom, from the judge to reporters covering the hearing.

All seven were sentenced to indefinite terms as defective delinquents.

Slump In Farm Prices Halted, Ferguson Finds

EAST LANSING (AP)—Sen. Ferguson R-Mich declared today the Eisenhower administration has arrested the "downward dive" of farm prices and is "headed in the right direction" on a farm program.

He addressed a meeting of the Michigan Grain and Feed Association at Michigan State College.

Aid Samples Recounted
Ferguson cited examples of aid to the farmer by the administration. He said:

"When the cost-price squeeze developed early this year and put the cattlemen in a difficult position, President Eisenhower and the Republican administration swiftly dealt with the problem and removed price controls and also removed the compulsory grading that was obstructing the market."

"When the wheat market was being rocked by loans, the Republican administration announced loans would be made on wheat stored on the ground up to 80 per cent of the usual rate."

"The Republican administration purchased enough storage bins to hold about 100 million additional bushels of grain and offered loans to farmers to build their own bins on highly favorable terms."

"We offered private industry guaranteed storage if they will build additional storage space."

Wheat For Pakistan
Also, Ferguson said, the 83rd Republican Congress:

"Allowed a five-year income tax amortization on the cost of constructing grain storage facilities."

"Raised the minimum quota on the 1954 wheat crop."

"Authorized a new upstream conservation-type flood control program."

"Sent wheat for Pakistan, relieving our surplus and helping a friendly nation."

"Reorganized the department of agriculture."

"Extended the reciprocal trade agreements law and created a committee to study foreign economics, intending aid to the farmer."

"Spelled out details of greater farm ownership and control of credit agencies and decentralized power over farm credit by delegating more duties and authority to federal land banks and other district credit agencies."

Can't Scuttle U. N. Over Seating China, Says Senator Wiley

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) said today the United States could lose its world leadership if it dropped out of the United Nations over the issue of seating Red China.

Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a speech prepared for the Indiana state teachers convention he is "unilaterally opposed" to giving Communist China a U. N. seat.

"But I am also unalterably opposed to scuttling the United Nations if we can't have our way," he added.

Sen. Knowland of California, the newly elected Republican Senate leader, has declared he will lead a drive to get the country out of the world organization if Red China gets in.

Grandma Hikes 60 Miles For 85th Birthday

DETROIT (AP)—Grandma Sylvia Marie Carlsen says she's retiring as a hiker after a near 60-mile jaunt to Port Huron to celebrate her 85th birthday.

She didn't quite make it to Port Huron on her own as she did on her 1950 birthday walking spree. Or as she did to Lansing (80 miles), Pontiac (30), Algonac (40) and other Michigan cities to which she has ticked off the years with trips.

"It was so hot," she said, "and some nice people at an ice cream stand just outside the Port Huron city limits said it wouldn't be cheating to take a bus into town."

She rode the bus the rest of the way, visited with old friends in Port Huron and then took a bus home, but hoofed it the five blocks from the bus line.

Mrs. Carlsen confided she "sneaked out" on her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Deneau Thursday. She arose at 5:45 a. m., buckled on her stout hiking shoes and took off.

The daughter and husband with whom she lives didn't want her to take a hike this year. She has a heart ailment that forced her to celebrate her 84th birthday in bed.

For lunch she took along only an apple. She wore a Scottish tam and a jacket with "going places" emblazoned across the front. About her only complaint was that motorists kept plaguing her with offers of rides.

Jet Plant Strike Affects 28,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—More than 28,000 men and women who build some of the nation's best known jet planes went on strike today at North American Aviation Co., plants here and in Columbus, Ohio.

The walkout and the picketing were orderly.

The CIO United Auto Workers' contract with North American expired at midnight Thursday. Negotiations were broken off at 9:30 Thursday night and no date was set for renewal.

The union wants a wage increase of 23.4 cents an hour plus severance pay, a pension program and other benefits. Pay now ranges from $1.42 to $2.32 hourly. The company has offered a 4 per cent general increase, plus an additional 4 to 5 cents hourly for top workers.

The strike threatened production of F100 Super Sabres, F86F Sabre jets and T28B Navy trainers. The company said it would keep the plants open and try to continue making planes.

Blizzard Maroons 300 Hunters; Dry Plains Get Rain

(By The Associated Press)

Drought-relieving rain hit wide areas in the Southern Plains and Texas Panhandle as cooler air moved into the central part of the country, breaking an October heat wave.

Some 300 big game hunters were marooned by winter's first big blizzard in Big Horn National Forest near the Wyoming-Montana state line. A search was to be made for the hunters, many of whom were forced to abandon their automobiles as four-foot drifts blocked all main highways in the Big Horn Forest. However, the storm abated Thursday night and some hunters were beginning to trek out, forest service officials said. Temperatures in the area early Friday were in the 20s. No snow was forecast Friday.

Heaviest rainfalls in three years fell in the Texas Plains Thursday and rain continued during the night in the southern and eastern parts of the state. Falls measured up to 8½ inches in some areas of the drought-stricken country near Lubbock and Matador. Heavy falls also were reported in northern Texas and in southwestern Oklahoma. The wet belt extended to northern Illinois and the northern Great Lakes region.

The deluge in some Texas areas closed highways, disrupted communications and forced some families to evacuate their homes.

The leading edge of the cool air mass reached Chicago during the night and moved eastward. Chicago's 87 Thursday was one of the nation's highest readings and marked the eighth straight day of 80 or above. A top of 72 was predicted for Friday.

Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connell said Thursday night it is possible that testimony might be concluded with the questioning of two more witnesses.

The police chief previously said he was "sure" a statement would be made when "the entire investigation is completed."

There has been no indication whether the investigation, has produced any leads on the missing $300,000 in ransom money.

About half of the $600,000 ransom was found in the possession of Carl Austin Hall, confessed kidnap-slayer of the boy, when he was arrested here eight days after the Kansas City kidnaping.

Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady were arrested Oct. 6 on a tip from taxi driver John Hager.

Another taxi driver who drove Mrs. Sandra June O'Day to Kansas City after she spent the night of Oct. 5 in a St. Louis County motel with Hall was one of the witnesses questioned Thursday.

Mrs. O'Day is held in Kansas City as a material witness.

Catfish On Highway During Detroit Fog

DETROIT (AP)—Motorists inching along the fog-covered Willow Run expressway early today were convinced the fog was the densest in history.

They ran into a whole school of live catfish—5,000 pounds of them—wriggling across the road.

The fish had flopped to the highway from a truck involved in a collision. The driver said he failed to see another truck in the fog and grazed it. The collision burst the tank containing the catfish.

Nine policemen were dispatched with mops to clean up the slippery fish-covered highway.

Police said some motorists jumped out and collected themselves a fish dinner before driving on.

Driver Fined $60 In $200,000 Fire

FLINT (AP)—Henry D. Williamson, 27-year-old fuel truck driver, paid fines totaling $60 in Municipal court for a disastrous delivery mixup which resulted in the destruction of the CIO Labor Temple Thursday.

Williamson was fined for mis-handling inflammable liquid so as to endanger life and property.

By mistake, Williamson said, he poured 200 gallons of gasoline into a fuel oil tank in the basement of the building Wednesday. He said his truck carried a half gasoline and half fuel oil load.

Shortly after realizing his mistake, Williamson removed the gasoline. However, a spark touched off a flash fire during the removal. The fire was extinguished.

Ten hours later a spark from an electric pump touched off an explosion in the building that shattered windows, offices, and partitions. Then fire broke out and destroyed the building. Firemen estimated damage at $200,000.

Lumberman Stricken

REED CITY (AP)—Clark Dickerson, 60, a Reed City lumber company owner, died of a heart attack while driving along a Manitowish, Wis., street Thursday.

The car went over the curb and hit a telephone pole. Dickerson came here 30 years ago from Ypsilanti and was a former city alderman. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday.

Rigid Price Backing On Crops Predicted By Dakota Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republican senators said today they expect Congress next year to extend rigid price supports for basic farm crops and perhaps extend the program to additional commodities.

The prediction came from Senators Mundt (R-SD) and Payne (R-Me) after Sen. Young (R-ND) issued a tart statement saying President Eisenhower's decision not to stump for GOP candidates in the 1954 congressional campaigns "will help the Republicans greatly in the Midwest."

Benson Is Target

Young, who opposed confirmation of Secretary of Agriculture Benson's appointment, said the administration's lack of farm policy and their multibillion-dollar glorified Truman giveaway foreign program are very unpopular in the Middle West.

Neither Mundt nor Payne had any comment on Young's blast, the sharpest yet from a Republican lawmaker in the midst of growing controversy over farm problems and Benson's attitude toward them.

Eisenhower strongly defended Benson at a news conference two days ago. Both the President and Benson have said they will have definite recommendations on farm policy to submit to Congress in January.

Farm Income Insured

Mundt, a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said in an interview he was confident Congress would not approve any change in the law that would weaken present price supports or reduce the income of the farmer. "It's my belief that Congress will approve an extension of the present price support program and perhaps include other storable crops not now on the mandatory support list," he said, "unless the Agriculture Department comes up with a plan that would give farmers a better income."

Sale Of Shore Park Debated; Delay Decision

Should the city of Escanaba sell a part or all of the shore area zoned for public park and located on Lake Shore Drive opposite the Escanaba athletic field?

The question was debated last night by the Escanaba Planning Commission, to whom it was referred by the City Council with a request for a recommendation. No decision was reached by the Commission and it will be brought on again at the Commission's next meeting.

Meanwhile the Commission will obtain an expression of opinion from the City Recreation Commission and the Escanaba Board of Education on the proposed sale of the public land.

Javees Opposed

The question came to the City Council when individuals requested city officials to sell the lake shore property for residential development. The first request was received in 1950.

The Planning Commission when it adopted the rezoning plan for the city reserved the area for future park development.

Sale of the property is opposed by the Delta County Sportsmen's Club and the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce. "It is a poor policy to cut down on public parks," the Javees advised the Planning Commission by letter.

Advocating sale of part or all of the area were two members of the Planning Commission. One said the sportsmen are interested only "because it gives access to the bay for duck hunters" and the other said they just couldn't see that as a park area.

Table Zoning Change

City Manager A. V. Aronson said the city now has enough parks, that if the city grows it will need the south shore park but it must be developed for use. One Planning Commission member commented "if the city believes it will ever need the area it should not be sold."

Part of the area is owned by the Conservation Department and is held for the city for park and recreation use. It could be disposed of by the state if the city decides it is no longer interested in having it held for those purposes.

In other business the Planning Commission discussed and tabled, until a proposal new zoning ordinance is prepared, the request for a recommendation on rezoning three business places from Class B residential to Local Business.

They are Cliff's Market, Family Bakery and the Hob Nob. The owners of the three properties were represented last night by Atty. John H. Root, who agreed to tabling the request in view of the possibility that the new zoning ordinance will solve this problem of permitting the businesses, now classified as non-conforming uses, the same "privileges" accorded other non-conforming businesses.

Similar Privilege

Back of the request for rezoning is the application of Cliff O'Donnell of Cliff's Market for approval by the city of a Specially Designated Merchant license to sell beer and wine by the bottle. Council rejected the application because Cliff's Market is a non-conforming local business in a residential zone.

"If the proposed new ordinance gives the same license privileges to all local businesses, whether located in a residential or a business zone, it will be what we want," Atty Root told the Commission.

Commission members reported they had received numerous telephone calls from residents of the area opposing a change in zoning, although they were in favor of having the three businesses continued.

A request to vacate a half-block alley running east from S. 15th St. between 10th and 11th Avenues by three home owners in an adjacent block was recommended to be rejected. Property owners abutting on the alley appeared before the Commission to protest the request, and said they wanted the alley to remain.

Bandshell Location

Following a report and recommendations from Perkins and Will, Chicago architectural firm, in connection with the location of a bandshell and a service building in Ludington Park, the Planning Commission:

Schaffer Girl Named Delta Potato Queen

Donna Racicot, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Racicot of Schaffer, was crowned Delta County Potato Queen Thursday night in the Cornell Town Hall by "Mayor" August Lundgaard of Cornell.

Donna clapped her hand to her mouth in total astonishment when Lundgaard announced her name. The new queen is a senior at Bark River-Harris High School. She is a cheerleader and a 4-H Club member.

She will go to Ironwood Nov. 4 and 5 to compete for U.P. Potato Queen.

Awards and trophies were the order of the day in jam-packed Cornell Town Hall, in festivities which marked the end of the potato harvest in Delta County.

Statuettes, donated by the businessmen of Escanaba, were presented in five categories: 4-H division; certified seed division; table stock division; progressive table stock division; and best table stock sample of any type entered in the Delta County Potato Show in Escanaba Thursday.

Falkies Certified Champion

Frank Falkies of Cornell, getting a mammoth yield of 831.5 bushels per acre and having 831.5 points on the judges' scorecards, took the trophy in the certified seed division, which is for growers using a special high-grade seed. Second and third places went, respectively, to Clarence Sundquist of Pine Ridge, 594.1 bushels, 733.5

points; and to Pat De Baker of Rock, 531.7 bushels, 732.9 points. Table stock champion was George Terrien of Cornell, with 682 bushels and 755.5 points. Second in this division, for growers who used non-certified seed, was Francis Van Damme of St. Nicholas, 631 bushels, 752.3 points.

Third was Clayton Ford of Cornell, 609.8 bushels, 752.5 points. Carl Van Drese of Cornell took the trophy in the progressive table stock division, for newcomers to competition. Second was Valter Van Damme of St. Nicholas, 480.5 bushels, 765.1 points; third, Emil Skrobak of Bark River, 504 bushels, 666 points.

Vernon Ford Wins

Winner of the 4-H trophy was 11-year-old Vernon Ford of Cornell, who grew 612 bushels per acre. Next four of the 15-man 4-H field were: 2nd, David Woodward, 15, of Cornell, 559.5 bushels; 3rd, Arlene Woodward, 17, of Cornell, 559 bushels; 4th, John Knaus, 16, of Cornell, 557 bushels; 5th, Jean Ford, 15, of Cornell, 555 bushels.

Clayton Ford of Cornell won the trophy for the best table stock sample in the Delta County Potato Show.

D. L. Clannahan, extension specialist in the farm crops department of Michigan State College, who judged the potato show entries Thursday, told the audience the rise of potato growing in Delta County ranks with any crop advancement in the country.

"You folks have kept pace," he told the assembled farmers and guests.

Delta Near Consumer Areas

Clannahan declared that if the farmers hadn't made such high yields, Delta County would probably be out of the potato business.

Perronville Man Kills Eight Bears In Only 2 Months

Lee Borden of Perronville claims the title of champion bear hunter in the Upper Peninsula. Borden has shot and killed eight bears since the first of September, all of them on his 40-acre tree farm at Perronville.

The largest was a 450-pound brute that died on his haunches just as the bear was about to take a swipe at his attacker. The big bear dropped only 20 inches from Borden.

Borden got three bears at one time, a mother and two cubs, but all of the others were taken individually. Borden says they were damaging trees.

Daylight Thief Removes Masonic Jewels Display

A daylight thief entered yesterday's noon hour entered the Masonic Temple building, 600 block Ludington St., and from a case in the second floor lobby of the building removed a display of six Masonic jewels and a sword and scabbard.

All of the pieces were engraved with the name of the late Harry D. Brackett, Escanaba businessman, civic leader, and prominent for many years in Masonic Lodge circles.

Escanaba police reported that the thief had pried open the case, removed the articles valued at more than $100 and left the building by way of the fire escape.

Besides their intrinsic worth, the Masonic jewels and sword are highly valued by the Brackett family for sentimental reasons and their loss is most keenly felt, said Bruce Brackett, son of Harry Brackett. The articles had been recently put on display at the Masonic Temple.

The theft occurred sometime between the departure of Percy Owens at noon and the arrival of John Egenbreiten about 1 p. m., police reported.

Bold Black Bear Asking For Trouble

ROCK — A big black bear is going to be shot one of these days if he isn't a little more careful.

Mrs. Walter Linjala, who lives about seven miles west of Rock, reports that bear are not unusual around their place, but when one comes calling up to the house at noon, that is being a little too forward.

Last Sunday around 12:30 while her two children aged 1½ and 3 were playing in the yard, the bear came to within a hundred feet of the house. Mrs. Linjala's mother who was washing clothes on the back porch happened to look up and there was a big bear standing in the tall grass with his head and shoulders showing.

She called her daughter and they got the children inside. Mrs. Linjala got the gun and during all this activity, the bear just stood there and watched. Though her shot missed him, the bear took off like a shot she said.

However this was not the end of the bear because the next morning there were bear tracks in the children's sand box and evidence that he had been on the back porch.

Because of the unusually warm weather, the bear have not hibernated and are getting hungry enough to venture right out in the open.

Ex-Judge Blasts Red Tape In American Court System

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Former Judge Stanley N. Barnes of California has been most quiet and retiring in the five months he has been assistant attorney general in charge of the Antitrust division. But in a speech before the California Bar Association, which did not get the national attention it deserved, Barnes let go a blockbuster. It was aimed at delays before U. S. courts, the needless waste of time before hearing officers of the federal government's sprawling network of 56 administrative agencies, and lawyers in general.

41 Of 87 U. S. Target Areas Already Surveyed

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Of the 87 areas in the United States which are considered likely targets for a Russian bombing attack, 41 have been surveyed as to what must be done to reduce the concentration of target areas. Surveys for six more have been submitted to Washington for checking.

Of the major cities, Chicago, Cincinnati and San Francisco have completed surveys. Pittsburgh and Cleveland studies are under review in Washington. Detroit and Baltimore have completed studies, but have not sent them in.

New York, because of its size and ties with New Jersey and Connecticut industries nearby, has been delayed in determining how its expanding production will have to be dispersed. Philadelphia has also been delayed. Boston got a late start.

Some cities which have completed surveys have found they do not have over-concentration of their industries. Atlanta, for instance, does not qualify as a good target area, which would require it to plan for dispersal. Atlanta has been able to capitalize on this by promoting four areas in which industries could locate with relative safety from possible attack.

Words, Wit &amp; Wisdom

By William Morris

More are a few more of the colorful terms which have made the jargon of football very nearly as varied and graphic as that of baseball—words like "scatback," "dipseey-doo" and "hash mark" which we hear on the radio but which may not be clear to some of us.

A SCATBACK, for example, is a light, fast, shifty, ball-carrying back. Albie Booth, long hallowed in Eli Yale's hall of fame, was the prototype of the "scatback," though I doubt if the term was used in his time.

DIPSEY-DOO is slang for a series of brilliantly executed trick plays.

HASH MARKS or HASH LINES are the short stripes 17.7 yards in from each sideline at right angles to the five-yard lines. They divide each line into three equal parts.

A real old-timer among plays—the sort of strategy a team will try only once a season, if that often—is the famous STATURE OF LIBERTY play. In this one, a back receives the pass from center and holds it high, feinting a pass so that the defending team will fall into pass-defense positions. Then a fleet-footed player, often an end, will circle behind him, snatching the ball as he runs and attempting a long run. Because the success of this play depends almost entirely on the element of surprise, it is very rarely used nowadays when so many more ingenious methods of attack have been developed.

One often hears the terms ZONE DEFENSE and MAN-FOR-MAN defense. In the former, each defensive player is assigned a certain area which he is to guard. In the latter, he must cover a designated opponent no matter where that player goes on the field.

At the end of the game, especially in the traditional Ivy League contests, comes the SNAKE DANCE, a hilarious and occasionally riotous weaving parade from one end of the field to the other by undergraduates of the winning college. Often hats are thrown over the goal posts and occasionally the victorious revelers will try to tear down one or both sets of goal posts.

The general criticism of legal red tape about which Barnes spoke, was the frequently heard plea of the average little guy embroiled in a lawsuit. As Barnes quoted this client, he wails:

"Why can't I get up there and say it in my own words? Why do judges and lawyers keep butting in? Why do they prevent me from saying what I want to say, the way I want to say it?"

In the time he has been in Washington, Barnes declared, he has come to these conclusions:

There exists among the bench and bar a widespread dissatisfaction with existing legal processes, but this feeling is the delayed expression of the same conclusion reached earlier by the average client.

NOT ENOUGH TO HIRE JUDGES

Barnes charged both the judges and the lawyers with failure to correct this situation. For years, he said, the obvious answer to congested court calendars has been, "Get more judges." This is not enough, he declared.

In California, he said, the average interval between the time a case is at issue and the time of trial is from four months to a year. In eight states the lag is even longer—Connecticut, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, Wisconsin. The national average is just under a year for jury cases, and just under six months for nonjury cases.

In the 86 federal court districts, the average delay time in 1952 was seven months. The number of untried cases pending in federal courts has risen from 30,000 in 1941 to over 60,000 in 1952.

One remedy proposed to relieve the logjam has been to take personal injury cases out of the courts and put them before an administrative agency. This prompted him to take a look at the existing federal administrative agencies.

Three such agencies were created by the first Congress in 1789. Before the Civil War there were 11. Of the 56 today, the five largest in the fiscal year 1951 held over 5000 administrative hearings. This is about half the number of civil and criminal federal court cases in the same year.

AGENCIES TERMED INEFFICIENT

But there were 215 federal district judges that year, while there were 273 federal hearing officers for the administrative agencies. In some administrative hearings, Barnes said, "the records are infinitely longer than they would have been in court proceedings, and filled with irrelevant and redundant material." Also, hearings before these agencies are often far more expensive than court trials.

In the famous "bread-softener" case, for instance, Federal Food and Drug Administration hearings, begun in 1941, were suspended during the war, reactivated in 1946. The case took 10 months. There were 17,000 pages of testimony and 497 exhibits.

"If you imagine the American businessman or labor leader will forever put up with processes which do not function with the accuracy and expedition which he requires for his working purposes, you credit him with less ingenuity and independence than I do," Judge Barnes said.

He will not continue to pay a hundred thousand dollars for a product he knows is worth only ten thousand. He will not repeatedly wait years for a decision he knows could be reached in weeks. He will not indefinitely permit disputed issues to be buried in irrelevancies and thus lost instead of being decided."

WORST ENEMIES

(Two Harbors (Minn) Chronicle & Times) It is necessary, to have a successful resort area such as ours here in this area to sell that area to prospective visitors from other regions. ## The Doctor Says ... Look to Future for Prevention Of Coronary Thrombosis

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Coronary thrombosis is a disease of the heart and is responsible for many sudden and unexpected deaths.

Without going into the technical details, it can be described as a clot which closes up one of the branches of the arteries which supply blood to the muscles of the heart.

Like every other muscle, the heart muscle must receive blood in order to function. When this supply of blood is cut off by a clot or closure of an artery, the heart muscle cannot keep contracting as it must in order to maintain life.

The severity of an attack depends on where the clot is located and whether a large or small part of the heart muscle is deprived of its blood supply. During the time of its weakness the heart should be allowed to rest or it may not be able to maintain its function of pumping blood.

It takes quite a long time for good recovery of the heart muscle if the injury was not too strategically placed or too large, and time enough is allowed, a kind of scar forms at the injured area. For this reason complete and lengthy rest is extremely important.

MANY RECOVER In spite of the serious nature of this condition, many recover from an attack of coronary thrombosis with practically no ill effects and lead relatively normal lives for many years.

Most of these people who make good recoveries of this sort have also been good patients. They have taken the lengthy rest period without undue complaint and adjusted themselves to an easier method of living.

The cause or causes of coronary thrombosis are not all understood. Although prevention still seems to lie far in the future, progress in immediate and late management of the condition is going forward in an encouraging way.

TEXAS-GO-ROUND

John Foster Dulles outfoxed a federal judge when he flew to London instead of going with like to the Mexican border. U. S. District Judge Ben Rice had issued an order for Dulles to appear in Federal Court Oct. 19—the date Eisenhower dedicated the Falcon Dam—and "show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for failure to obey the order of this court of June 5, 1953." . . . the order of June 5 required Dulles to admit Kok Jon Gong, an American citizen of Chinese ancestry, barred by the U. S. Consul in Hong Kong from coming to testify at his own U. S. citizenship hearing. . . . Dulles had expected to go to Falcon Dam and a U. S. marshal expected to serve him. But Dulles flew to London to see Churchill instead. . . . the Kok Jon Gong case is important because it sets a precedent for Americans of Chinese ancestry; which was why Judge Rice took the unusual step of citing the Secretary of State for possible contempt. . . . the 24-room mansion in which Governor Shivers entertained the Eisenhowers was built by the former regional public works administrator under Roosevelt, John H. Shary, father-in-law of Governor Shivers, built the mansion to house Iowa-Nebraska prospects who came on special trains to buy land. Shary was a big real-estate promoter; also spent millions for PWA. Some of it didn't do the Shary properties any harm.

SIGNAL CORPS LEAKS

Joe McCarthy will almost drop dead when he reads this, but in my opinion he is absolutely right in probing the leak of Signal Corps radar secrets at Fort Monmouth, N. J. Furthermore he is absolutely right in saying that the leaks go back about 10 years. Actually they go back even further.

Joe has forgotten it, but three years ago I testified before a senate committee that 12 drawers of irreplaceable records giving the dates and details of radar development mysteriously disappeared from Fort Monmouth in 1946. The Army immediately issued a denial.

Entirely aside from the 12 drawers, there was also evidence of leaks to Russia, however, and I personally reported this to the Army and warned that one technician born in Russia working in the Signal Corps bore watching.

Six years ago—Dec. 19, 1947—this column also published facts regarding the use of radar secrets by the Radio Corporation of America. RCA had no connection whatsoever with leaks to Soviet Russia, and I'm sure the last thing RCA officials would do would be to condone use of radar patents by the Communists. However, the pre-Pearl Harbor leak to RCA showed, first of all, sloppy security by the Signal Corps. Second, RCA proceeded to file application for radar patents in foreign countries, including prewar Japan, where they became available to foreign powers. At that time radar was the most priceless secret the Army had.

What happened was that RCA hired one of the Signal Corps' top experts on radar, William D. Hersberger; then in 1937 proceeded to use some of the discoveries made by Hersberger for the Army and apply for radar patents in Japan and Australia. Patents were also filed in the U. S. Patent Office—all this at a time when Hitler was invading Austria and later Czechoslovakia, and when it was apparent to every competent newsmen that war was inescapable.

The Signal Corps was so flabbergasted at RCA's action in using the Army-Hersberger secrets to file for radar patents, especially in Japan, then a potential enemy of the U. S. A., that some Signal Corps officers wanted to take action against RCA. It was believed, however, that such action would only serve to spotlight the importance of the sensational new discovery whereby an electronic eye could detect invisible shapes in the distance. So the Signal Corps delayed action.

After the war was over, however, Maj. Gen. Harry Ingles, then chief of the Signal Corps, wrote RCA protesting that it had violated not only the Army's radar patent, but also security, by applying for radar patents in foreign countries. To use the official words of the Army:

"Gen. Ingles . . . wrote RCA authorities expressing a belief in government rights to the impulse generator patents, pointing out that there was some question of violation of security in that the impulse generator applications had been distributed to foreign affiliates of RCA, and that it appeared information contained in the impulse generator applications was similar to secret information to which Mr. Hersberger might have had access while working in Signal Corps laboratories."

But suddenly General Ingles, author of this protest, went to work for RCA after that the protest lapsed.

You hear so many people complaining about this and that these days, maybe we should enlarge the 8-ball.

Antibiotics Help Revolutionize Modern Surgery Procedures

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK—(NEA)—If the present trend continues, there'll be a new motto posted on the walls of every operating room: "Reach For An Antibiotic Instead of a Knife."

Over the last few years, surgeons have quietly been experimenting with antibiotics—the same wonder drugs your family doctor gives you for a bad cold. And, because of their ferocious ability to fight bacteria, these modern medical miracles have made two important contributions to surgery.

First, they've done away with some few operations completely. These are infections that surgeons used to have to cut out. Now they can be licked by antibiotics.

Secondly, they've made surgery safer. One of the great dangers of going under the knife is that an infection sets in. "Complications," the obituary used to read. Today the surgeon can control most of these infections with antibiotics.

The drugs used in all this work are the now-familiar names—penicillin, streptomycin, aureomycin, terramycin and chloromycetin. The newest wrinkle is to use a combination of streptomycin and a sulfa drug.

The only operations that antibiotics can eliminate, of course, are those involving infections. Any structural defect, such as a perforated ulcer, must still be repaired by surgery.

Many research reports by surgeons indicate that antibiotics have done more to lessen the dangers of the operating table than anything since the discoveries of anaesthesia and antiseptics. That would make them the greatest surgical advance in about a century.

The classic example of no-longer-needed surgery is the mastoid operation. An infection of the mastoid bone in the ear formerly required a delicate operation. Many children had to go through it, and it left an ugly hollow behind the ear.

Nowadays, antibiotics clear up a mastoid infection quickly. In most hospitals, the operation is no longer performed.

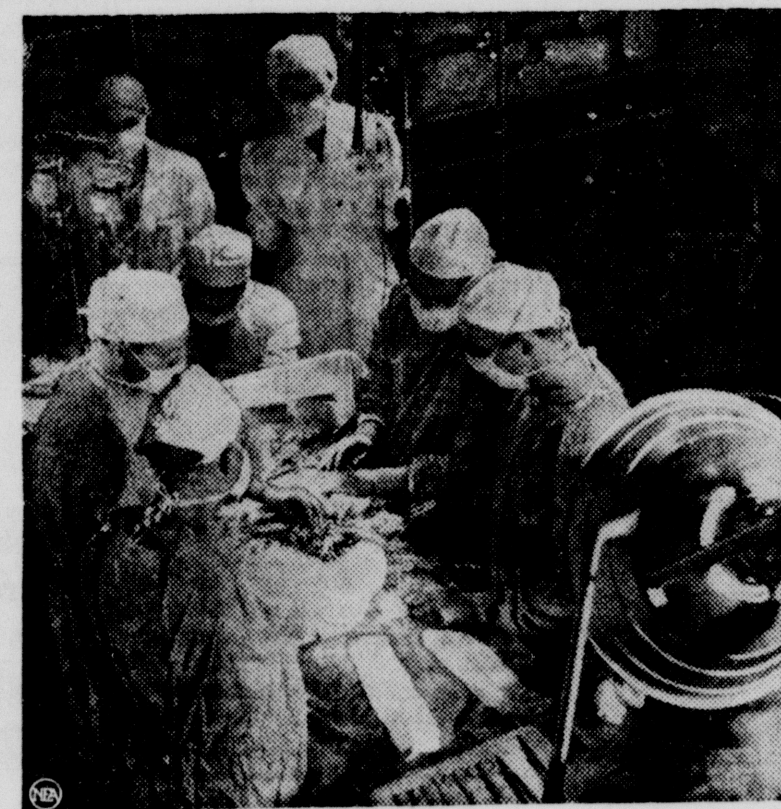

A similar happy fate may be in store for infections in other parts of the body—in the tonsils and appendix, for example. This question is still up in the air, with a controversy raging in medical circles. But there is agreement, according to medical research, that antibiotics permit the operation to be postponed.

This is especially important in the case of tonsillectomies. If your doctor notices that your child's tonsils are badly infected during the summer, he will try to postpone the operation. There is a belief that it is unwise to take tonsils out during the polio season. Antibiotics, by controlling the infection, allow such a postponement without danger.

Many doctors say that a tonsillectomy can be postponed indefinitely, by using antibiotics. But there is no unanimity of medical opinion on that score.

With appendicitis, it's the same story. Some say an infected appendix can be brought under control by antibiotics, meaning the operation is unnecessary. Others disagree violently. But they all agree on one thing: a ruptured appendix isn't the surgical scourge it once was.

When an infected appendix bursts, it spews germs all around the abdominal cavity. This condition, peritonitis, was almost always fatal. Antibiotics are a pretty good control of peritonitis.

Antibiotics have made other operations less severe. One instance involves diabetes who, as they grow older, often suffer from poor circulation. This is particularly true in the extremities, like the toes and fingers. Infection sometimes sets in in areas of poor circulation, so amputations are common among elderly diabetics.

Any surgery on the colon, such as a cancer removal, was formerly considered quite dangerous. That region of the intestines is full of bacteria, which could easily spread and infect the rest of the body. But the mortality rate is down appreciably; surgeons today sterilize the large intestine with antibiotics both before and after an operation.

Other surgery—ranging from major operations on the heart to minor work on the surface—have been made easier by antibiotics. The much-publicized new operations on the heart valves, to repair damage caused by rheumatic fever, have been made possible because antibiotics lessened the infection danger.

With antibiotics, these infections can be fairly well controlled. It may still be necessary to amputate a toe or a finger, but in the pre-antibiotics age surgeons would cut off a leg or arm to prevent the infection from spreading.

With some afflictions, antibiotics may mean only one operation, against a series. In osteomyelitis, an infection of the bone marrow, surgeons used to cut out the affected area, bit by bit, in a lengthy series of operations.

It was too dangerous to cut it all out at once, since the operation itself might spread the infection. Today, one operation for osteomyelitis is the rule, because the infection danger has been reduced by antibiotics.

WHAT THEY WANT—Escanaba charter revision commission is doing an excellent job of preparing a proposed new charter for the city.

Whether the people will want it or not is another question, since one portion of a proposed charter may arouse controversy and thereby the entire charter be considered objectionable and unacceptable.

This thinking was behind the charter revision commission's withdrawal of a suggested section which would have established controls over city council election campaigns. It appeared to be far too controversial to risk inclusion.

Escanaba's non-partisan city council elections have become more or less accepted as the acme of perfection in election procedures, yet an effort to determine whether it could be improved upon roused immediate opposition.

Those who spoke in opposition (and no one appeared in favor of a local corrupt practices section) received support from the Michigan Municipal League and the office of the attorney general of Michigan. The proposed section was so unpopular that it was withdrawn by the commission committee that had framed it.

A suggestion that the controversial section be referred to the Delta County Bar Association for study and recommendation brought a wry comment from a commission member:

"This section is now very dead. To refer it to the Bar Association would only be a process of electrocuting the corpse."

THE HELPERS—The charter revision commission expressed its gratitude to the Bar Association for assistance in solving other knotty problems, however, including the charter provision covering the city's liability for personal injury claims.

The commission-drawn section was tossed out and the Bar Association suggested section, received at the request of the commission, was adopted to replace it.

Every citizen of Escanaba interested in a new charter for the city can be helpful by following the work of the charter revision commission and attending public hearings when they are called.

Unfortunately, and despite pages of space devoted to presentation of the proposed revised charter by the Daily Press, public interest and attendance at hearings has been slight. There is still opportunity, however, because "nothing is yet final" in the proposed revised charter, and there will be more public meetings.

The proposed revised charter will be submitted to the Michigan Municipal League and then to the governor. Later this year it will be brought before the people of Escanaba for discussion, and it will then be submitted to them for adoption or rejection at an election next spring.

IN THE BALANCE—The charter revision commission comprises seven men and two women who were elected last spring to study and prepare a proposed revised charter for the city.

These people are representative of a cross-section of our citizens. There is a salesman and a lawyer, a businesswoman and a school teacher, and all of them have a sincere interest in Escanaba and in the task assigned to them by the citizens of the city.

The commission has in its work on a new charter for Escanaba studied the present charter, adopted in 1921, and the new revised charters of the cities of Sault Ste. Marie and Marquette. It has also called upon its own thinking and has sought the suggestions of Escanaba residents.

In the balance between acceptance and rejection of the proposed new ordinance will be the degree of fairness with which Escanabans approach their own task of making the decision.

It is imperative that citizens examine the charter as a whole, rather than base opinions on one or two sections. Certainly it would be most unfair to decide against the charter because it contained one paragraph with which the individual disagreed, although that is the citizen's prerogative.

Rather the question should be: Is this a good charter in its entirety; is it flexible enough to permit growth and change during the next 20 or 30 years; does it contain what this community needs as a constitution for its city government.

Some of its sections and chapters will no doubt arouse controversy. People will debate whether some of the present charter provisions are not superior to those that have been drafted by the commission.

This is all to the good if the debate is designed to inform and to assist the people in understanding the proposed charter. But if the criticism is negative, the intent destructive then the argument is valueless and even harmful.

Considering the high percentage of installment buying that's going on, Arch Nearbrite says that when things go wrong with the family budget there must be some fine family arguments as to whether they'll default on the car, radio, washing machine or refrigerator.

Todd Gayeff Addresses League Of Women Voters

Todd V. Gayeff, speaking to the League of Women Voters Thursday afternoon, made a strong plea for private generation of power for Escanaba. "The city should get out of the power business," he said, "if we are to look forward to a period of industrial expansion and reduced rates of electricity."

He stated he believes that the citizens of Escanaba should proceed cautiously to study all phases of the electrical problem; they should sit down together and discuss what is best for the future of the community.

Points of Comparison
Mr. Gayeff said he fears that a hasty decision may prove detrimental to future development and may result in the need for replacement of facilities in five or ten years whereas if private industry could be induced to build here, the supply would be unlimited. Some of the points of comparison he discussed were the cost to the community, the ability of the supplier to produce based on their corresponding experience in the field, the efficiency and reputation of the supplier whether it be REA, the City of Escanaba or a public utility.

Mr. Gayeff proceeded by raising the following questions which he said should be investigated and analyzed as they pertain to each source of supply:

1. Will we have "firm power"—what is your stand-by—will we be guaranteed continuity of service?
2. Do public utilities regulations apply to REA and municipal power plants—is there a ceiling on profits—what will be the rate to individual users?
3. What is a "coal clause"—how will it effect our costs?

For Private Ownership
He feels that a careful analysis of the facts will prove that private ownership of a power utility results in the most efficient and economical service. He presented a table of facts and figures in support of his argument. He feels that loss of revenue to the city could be compensated by an agreement with the Utility whereby a share of the profit would be returned to the community. "It has been done elsewhere," he said. In the meanwhile, Mr. Gayeff believes that the Mead Corporation should be granted a rate increase in return for an extension of time in which to find a solution to the problem.

"It's a question of what you want for Escanaba," he said. "We're never going to get anywhere until we shake ourselves out of this lethargic attitude and get cheap power in here." He closed his talk with an appeal to the women present to talk over the problem with as many groups as possible and work toward a more informed public which could deal intelligently with the problem.

Nahma

A bazaar, sponsored by St. Anne's Altar Society, will be held at the Civic Center Saturday, Oct. 24, at 7:30 p. m.

Clever Program At Powers-Spalding Student Pep Rally

POWERS-SPALDING — Much enthusiasm and appreciation has been expressed by friends and parents regarding the comedy skit given by the students of Powers-Spalding High-School at the pep rally held before a large audience in the Powers Hall.

The theme of the skit was "Home Is Best." Jack, a high school student played by Jack Gorzinski of Wilson and his cousin, played by Mary Lou Poquette of Spalding are seeking the queen for the Powers-Spalding Homecoming. Gypsy, Madam Rose, portrayed by Dorothy Cory is interviewed. She tells them that they will travel far, but will find their queen where "the hearth fires burn brightest and where friends are dearest."

Their travels take them to the South where they become involved in a family group, the negro Mammy, humorously played by Dorothy Cory, her enthusiastic daughter, Eliza, played by Rita Marco; her boy friend, the black boy, by Jule Hanson, who gave an excellent rendition of "Old Man River." Moses, the lazy comical son, played by Jim Henderson brought forth much laughter. To the tune of "Jimmy Crack Corn," a duet by Jule Hanson and Jim Henderson, two little colored twins, Lyn Sweeney and Lynde Poisson, skillfully danced.

The opening of a colorful Turkish scene showed an excellent imitation of a snake in dance by Virgie Hupy in costume, to flute music played by Rita Marco. An old man, the owner of a harem, was Jim Henderson, while the beautiful dancing girls, who charmed the American boy, were Janice Fleetwood, Gale Nelson, Phillis Mikus and Ione Willetscha.

Bing Zoderland, basketball coach, acting as radio announcer at a pep rally brought the play to a close with the introduction of the football boys lined up on stage, also Coach Ropele, Assistant Coach Larson and the cheer leaders, all of whom took part. The queen is finally found and announced by the football squad. Marvel Pragatz, a junior and the football candidate was named, and was crowned by the captain, Earl St. John.

Serving on her court were Barbara Schoen, Patsy Tousignant,

Boys in Korea Can Keep Warm

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SEOUL (AP)—The freezing silver winter wind is whipping over Korea and the Army is tucking its soldiers in like a fussy mother.

For three winters GIs have died in the snow and ice on Korea's bare hills.

Sure it's going to be cold up on the "line" on the edge of the demilitarized zone where Joe will stand his frigid watch in case the Reds decide to break the armistice.

But he can walk back to a tent and warm up by two stoves. One stove already has been issued for each tent and stocks of fuel oil are piled high in dumps.

When Joe steps out of the tent he'll look like a combination Eskimo-skiier going hunting.

Wrap him in ski socks, long underwear, lined pants, a hooded parka, a muffler, heavy mittens and "insulated Mickey Mouse" boots and he's ready to go. If he needs them he can have ice shoes with spiked soles and other arctic gear.

A while on the "line" and Joe will get a break and a trip back to division. That's even plusher. There the engineers are building jumbo Quonset huts for snack bars, community centers, theaters, recreation halls, chapels and junior-grade gyms.

Smaller Quonsets are going up as libraries and reading rooms and hobby shops. Billets front and rear have been winterized with wooden floors.

This is winter in Korea—1953 style.

Cornell

PTA Meeting
CORNELL (AP)—A meeting of the Cornell PTA was held at the Cornell Hall Tuesday. Mrs. Warren Rose, Mrs. Ivar Bucklund and Mrs. Ed Blitt were named on the committee to plan a Halloween party to be held later this month. Mrs. Barney Thompson and Mrs. Robert Thompson were named on a committee to obtain information on playground equipment at the school.

A discussion on serving whole milk to the school children as a mid-morning lunch was held, and was tabled until the next meeting. Through the cooperation of the School Board, Township Board, Lions Club and PTA, a refrigerator will be bought for the hot lunch project.

Briefs

Twins Arrive; Block Traffic

DARDANELLE, Ark. (AP)—A couple of young ladies blocked traffic for a mile on a busy highway near here, but motorists didn't mind when they were told the reason.

Mrs. Elmer Holmes set out with her former husband and 11-year-old son for a hospital. When the hospital was 12 miles away, Mrs. Holmes told her husband to stop the car send their son to the nearest house for a doctor. She said the situation had become critical.

When Dr. Roy I. Millard arrived, he found things in pretty good shape, however. The 33-year-old mother and twin daughters were doing fine, he reported. The twins were born Thursday at a rush hour on Highway 27, and cars were lined up a half mile in either direction.

Swedish Plane Shot Down In Syria; Blame Denied By Israeli

LONDON (AP)—Reports reached here from Lebanon today that a Swedish plane had been shot down in Syria. The Swedish consul in Beirut was quoted as blaming the Israeli Air Force. But an official spokesman in Israel said there was "no truth whatever" to the story.

There were conflicting accounts of just how many persons had been killed in the reported crash. A Beirut message said 35 passengers and crewmen were killed and that bodies were taken to Damascus, Syria. But word direct from Damascus was that the plane was a small one and that only the pilot and co-pilot had been killed.

The crash was described as taking place Thursday on Mt. Herman which rises to 9,232 feet 25 miles west-southwest of Damascus, the Syrian capital.

Veneer Plant Shut Down At Big Bay By Gladstone Company

BIG BAY (AP)—The Northwest Hardwood and Veneer Co. of Gladstone announced a temporary suspension of operations at its Big Bay branch plant because of a general hull in the lumber market, it.

E. A. D'Amour, secretary-manager of the company's logging department, said operations probably would be resumed next May. He said the company at present was overstocked on raw materials.

The shutdown also affected several Big Bay supplier companies. The company's planing mill in Big Bay will continue operations, D'Amour said.

The Big Bay branch veneer plant produces logs for Northwest's plants in Gladstone, Munising and Rhineland, Wis.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—Actively higher oils today headed a moderately advancing stock market.

Business was right around the pace that has been maintained all this week and in the neighborhood of Thursday's 1,340,000 shares. Railroads were buoyed by a few strong stocks, and some good gains were shown in steels, motors, coppers, chemicals, and building materials. There were no real weakness seen in any major group.

Higher stocks included Atlantic Coast Line, Pacific Western Oil, Union Oil of California, Cities Service, 20th Century-Fox, Anaconda Copper, Dow Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, U. S. Steel, Chrysler and Distillers Corp.

Thick Fog Ties Up Lake Traffic

(By The Associated Press)
A thick fog settled over southeastern Michigan, northern Ohio and parts of Ontario today, slowing traffic, grounding planes, and forcing lake freighter traffic to a standstill.

The fog limited ground visibility to 50 feet.

Airplane flights out of Willow Run Airport were cancelled shortly after midnight Thursday. By 8 a. m. 35 scheduled flights had been called off.

More than 30 lake freighters anchored in the Detroit River from Lake Erie to the head of Belle Isle to await lifting of the fog.

Hero Of Surabachi, Saved From Jail, Starts New Life

CHICAGO (AP)—Ira Hayes, 30-year-old World War II hero who last week was jailed briefly as a shoeless drunk, today was headed for a more promising life.

Looking fit in a new suit, the Pima Indian, who helped raise the Stars and Stripes on Iwo Jima in the Pacific, left by plane Thursday night for Los Angeles to accept a chauffeur's job.

A week in a sanitarium had restored his former vigor, and Hayes expressed thanks to those who came to his aid after he was picked up drunk on Chicago's North Side in blue jeans, tattered shirt and stocking feet.

Hayes was fined $25 and sent to the House of Correction to work out the fine. The Chicago Sunday Times paid the fine after Hayes had spent a night in jail and placed him in a sanitarium. Sunday Times readers donated nearly $1,200 to aid him rehabilitation.

As he boarded a plane Thursday night, Hayes said: "I guess the best way I can say what is in my heart is to promise that I won't make anyone regret that he helped me."

Hayes was one of five Marines who were photographed as they raised the American flag over Mt. Surabachi. The photograph, taken by an Associated Press cameraman, was widely circulated and was reproduced on postage stamps and monuments and other memorials.

Hayes' home is in Arizona.

Promote Michigan Tourist Industry, Brake Urges State

D. HALE BRAKE

Michigan State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, believes the state can do more to promote the development of the tourist industry to the benefit of the entire state.

Stopping in Escanaba yesterday enroute to Lansing from a meeting of the U. P. Development Bureau at Ironwood, Brake declared: "I am suggesting a practical program of tourist industry expansion which should meet the challenge of our competitors in other states."

Calling it a "five year plan," Brake proposed the state boost its appropriation for tourist promotion $50,000 a year for the next five years. This year Michigan spent $326,000 "to promote a half-billion-dollar business."

"All of us are interested in keeping the cost of state government down, but there is such a thing as being penny wise and pound foolish."

Brake placed the tourist industry third in importance in the state's economy, rating manufacturing first and agriculture second.

Of the proposed Straits of Mackinac bridge, Brake added: "I believe the bridge will be built. But it will be built quicker if the people of Michigan would pledge the faith and credit of the state to assist those who are attempting to sell bridge revenue bonds, as I have previously proposed."

The state treasurer was accompanied to Ironwood by State Senator William A. Ellsworth of St. Ignace.

Valley Conference At Minneapolis Outstanding Meeting

POWERS—The Mississippi Valley Conference held at the Hotel Nicolet in Minneapolis and attended by Dr. John Towey, Pinecrest medical director, Mrs. Towey and Miss Hedwig Schrupp, patient service director, was considered an outstanding meeting.

Dr. Phillip H. Becker, president, Mississippi Valley Trudeau Society stressed the shortage of hospital beds, but stated that some day beds for tuberculosis patients would be converted for other diseases. He also stated that the T.B. program includes continued research.

Dr. Frank E. Coburn, associate professor of psychiatry, Medical School, State University of Iowa, Iowa City, spoke on the "Emotional Problems in the Treatment of Tuberculosis" and stated that "all illness has an emotional problem." In tuberculosis the first knowledge of disease brings an emotional shock and produces anxiety, he declared.

Dr. Berstein, psychiatric consultant, Glenn Lake Sanatorium, Minneapolis stressed "That peace of mind is the most important factor in cure of disease."

A trip through the Glenn Lake Sanatorium was one of the outstanding events of the conference.

Dr. Towey appeared on television several times. Dr. Towey, 1952 winner of the Dearthold Medal of the Mississippi Valley Tuberculosis conference and its medical section, the Mississippi Valley Trudeau society, presented the medal to Dr. William H. Feldman, research worker in the Mayo Foundation, Rochester, Minn., who was named the 1953 winner. Feldman pioneered in his Rochester laboratory in use of Streptomycin to combat tuberculosis. He did the experimental work on animals that provided the basis for the drug's successful use in human patients.

Was 'Lettuce' In Unexpected Form

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Theodore Theban was making final plans for opening a branch office of his banking firm when there came an insistent rapping at the door.

Theban opened the door to find a woman carrying a shopping bag topped by a head of lettuce. But the bag wasn't all lettuce.

Insisting that she wanted to be the first to open an account, the woman dug under the lettuce and produced $11,500 in cash. She got her wish.

Noted Protestant Writer Will Speak Here Sunday For Reformation Rally

Dr. Charles C. Morrison, religious journalist and author of a number of books, will be the guest speaker here Sunday night for the observance of Reformation Sunday by Manistique Protestant churches.

He will speak on "Protestantism—Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

Among books which Dr. Morrison has authored are "The Outlawry of War," "The Social Gospel," "The Christian Cultus," and "What is Christianity?" His latest work, entitled "Can Protestantism Win America?" is an intimate study of the contemporary position of Protestantism amid the forces at work in the social and cultural life of the United States.

Is Minister

The author was editor of the publication, The Christian Century, for 39 years and has been a contributing editor since his retirement. A defunct denominational paper representing the Disciples of Christ when he refounded it in 1908, it became an undenominational weekly circulating throughout Protestantism under his editorship and is frequently referred to as "the most influential organ of opinion in the world of Protestantism."

The Christian Century, under Dr. Morrison's leadership, has insisted that Christianity is responsible for the character of civilization, and that therefore church journalism must deal in a forthright fashion with the political and social, as well as the moral, religious and ecclesiastical issues which confront modern society.

Before entering religious journalism, Dr. Morrison had been a minister of the Disciples of Christ, serving churches in Iowa, Springfield, Ill., and Chicago.

He is a graduate of Drake University and was a fellow in the department of philosophy at the University of Chicago. Numerous universities and theological schools have conferred honorary degrees of doctor of divinity, doctor of laws and doctor of letters upon him.

Massed Choir

The noted author founded The Pulpit, a monthly periodical for ministers, in 1929 and in 1934 he founded Christendom, a quarterly review which became the organ of the American section of the World Council of Churches. Recently it was merged with the official organ of the World Council of Churches, published at Geneva.

The Protestant rally here will be held at the Bethel Baptist Church, beginning at 8 p. m. Sunday. A massed choir under direction of Mrs. James H. Fyvie will sing.

The rally is sponsored by the Manistique Ministerial Association, and members will participate in the service.

Etiquette Classes Are Taught Here In Junior High School

Every Friday students of Manistique Junior High School have a regular class period in etiquette.

The subject is one in which no grades are recorded on report cards to parents for the progress of students is observable in conduct and manners at home, in school, and on the street.

The purpose of "manners classes" is to acquaint the student with the proper procedures in personal appearance, proper methods of introduction, proper responses in normal situations.

Considerable emphasis is placed on group participation, cooperation, dependability and fairness in competition.

The texts, "Behave Yourself" in the eighth grade, and Manners for Moderns, in the seventh grade, are cleverly illustrated and concisely worded.

Freshmen in high school have a course similarly designed, entitled "Orientation." This too, is conducted once a week.

These courses are intended to supplement home and classroom teaching and to make the student aware that he is judged by the public on more than academic marks.

Folks Dip Snuff Down Texas Way

DALLAS (AP)—R. H. Stanley of Dallas is a fellow who keeps his business right up to snuff. That's what it is—snuff. It's big business in Texas. Texans buy "a little better than three million pounds a year," and not all of the buyers are country folks.

"A good bit is sold right here in Dallas," Stanley said, "mostly to working people, but not all of it."

For example his company—he's district sales manager—ran an essay contest on "Why I Like Snuff," and got three entries from Dallas' swankiest neighborhood. Stanley checked them personally.

Growth Curves Are Explained By Dr. Ketcham

The relationship of growth curves to the three Rs in education was outlined for parents and teachers in Manistique Wednesday night by Prof. Warren A. Ketcham of the University of Michigan in the fourth of five lectures on child development, at the High School.

The U-M extension speaker, a former psychologist for Ferndale public schools, declared that slow developing children can not be expected to keep pace with the upper half, who develop more rapidly, and asserted that educators really succeed in bringing down the level of achievement of the upper half when attempting to do so.

The professor, a former music teacher, explained how child psychologists determine height age, weight age, grip age, reading age and other measures of children. Usually, he said, these ages parallel each other in trend, i.e., a child whose physical development is rapid usually acquires the comparable reading and mental age equally as rapidly.

Children whose various ages, as distinguished from chronological age, develop equally as rapidly are better balanced and are the more numerous, he noted. Those whose mental and reading age or other age measures are higher in some than in others often are instable and are problem children, he added.

Prof. Ketcham also pointed out that children usually perform better than can be expected for their growth age or average age level

(the average of all measures of age, including height, weight, dental, reading and grip age). Adults, he said, function at a level below that which can be expected for their growth age, and this is due to the "bitterness of life."

Also brought out in the lecture-discussion was the fact that much of learning is re-learning and that too little attention has been given to the laws of forgetting.

The next lecture in the University of Michigan extension series will be given Wednesday, Oct. 28, by Dr. Wilbur West of Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette. His topic will be "Can We Help Teen-agers?"

GLADSTONE BRAVES GET SET—Coach Don Pfothner's Gladstone Braves get set to invade Escanaba's gridiron Saturday afternoon at 2. The Gladstone mentor today listed the starting lineup for tomorrow's clash, with positions set at every spot except right end where either Jack Beach or Larry Feldt will

Eleven Seniors Will Start For St. Joe Team Tonight

All 11 seniors on the St. Joe Trojan football squad will be in the starting lineup tonight at 9 when Coach Tom St. Germain's charges meet Niagara in the 1953 season finale.

Taking the field against the Badgers will be Dick Cass and Dick Bryson at ends, Stan Venne and Ron Boisseneau at tackles, Gerard Collins and Dick Moreau at guards, Bob Rademacher at center, Jerry McDonough at quarterback, Leon Mileski and Gary Guertin at halfbacks and Bill Maycunich at fullback.

The St. Joe starting lineup was announced this morning by Bob Dufour and Dom Biagioli, who are subbing for head coach Tom St. Germain, hospitalized after an appendix operation last week.

The Trojan squad will be at full strength tonight except for junior tackle Jim Weber who suffered a leg injury last week in the Munising game and will not be suited up for Niagara.

St. Joe carries a record of five wins against two losses in the Munising game of the year. The Trojans have scored 136 points, an average of three touchdowns a game, against 51 for their opponents.

Coach Jack Taylor's Badgers

will be minus five players dropped from the squad because of disciplinary action. Niagara enters the game with a win and a tie in six starts this season.

St. Joe officials are expecting the largest crowd of the season for the finale. Spectators have again been asked to remain behind the snow fences which line both sides of Memorial Field's gridiron.

Game officials will be Dick Schram and Red Williams of Escanaba and Wallace Cameron of Gladstone.

Eskymos Entertain Braves In Saturday Gridiron Tilt

Final Game For Gladstone Team

The Escanaba Eskymos will be geared for an all-out effort to stop the invading Gladstone Braves when the two teams line up for the opening kickoff at the EHS gridiron Saturday at 2.

Coach Joe Milokna's griders are determined to stop their string of winless games at the expense of their neighboring rivals. Escanaba has dropped six straight starts in the 1953 campaign.

The host Eskymos will be at peak strength for Gladstone. All regulars except Jim Mongrain, epd, will be available for starting assignments. Jim Bolm, starter for Mongrain in the last two games, will handle the position Saturday.

"Going All-Out"

The game against Gladstone takes on added importance to the Eskymos when the final opposition the following Saturday is considered. The Eskymos will close out the season Oct. 31 against Ironwood, leading contender for U.P. championship honors. Most observers give the Eskymos little chance to upset Ironwood, thus leaving the Gladstone Braves as the likely choice for Escanaba's lone victims this season.

"We're going all-out for the win, and the boys feel they can take this one," Milokna said today.

At Gladstone, Coach Pfothner's Braves know they are in for a battle Saturday. Gladstone enters the game with a record of three wins and four losses for the season.

The Braves too will be at full strength with the return of defensive halfback Frank Barak to the lineup. The Braves were held out of scrimmage sessions this week to avoid any injuries. The Escanaba game closes Gladstone's 1953 campaign.

Gladstone hasn't won a football game from Escanaba since 1946 when the Braves posted a 26-14 decision. And from 1946 you have to go all the way back to 1930 to find the previous Gladstone

Fraser's Team Upset-Minded

(By The Associated Press) Powerful Ann Arbor has a chance tonight to become the first team in the state to sew up a major high school football conference championship.

If the Pioneer (5-0) whip-up set-minded Lansing Eastern (3-1-1), they'll clinch their fifth straight Six-A League title. It would give Ann Arbor a 4-0 league record with only one conference game to go.

However, Lansing Eastern is pointing for an upset. Says Eastern coach Morley Fraser: "We're going all out to be the first Michigan team to beat a Fonde-coached team."

Fraser was referring to the fabulous record compiled by Hank Fonde, Ann Arbor coach. Since Fonde took over in 1949, the Pioneers have won 35 games, tied one and lost one.

Both teams won't be at full strength for this game. Four players will be missing from the Eastern squad due to scholastic ineligibility. Ann Arbor is without the services of wingback Jerry Leith, who suffered a broken shoulder blade in last week's game against Battle Creek.

win, 20-0. There have been two tie games since then, the latest a 7-7 knot in 1949.

Bands Will Combine
That record makes Gladstone all the more determined to take advantage of Escanaba's grid misfortunes this year. The Braves feel they have an excellent opportunity to post one of their rare victories and are going to make the most of it.

A feature of the Saturday game will be the combined bands of the schools which will form a 100-piece unit to entertain at half-time. Directors Robert Meyer of Escanaba and Paul Cowen of Gladstone will lead the bands.

Theme for the band program will be "A Salute to Sousa" and will open with precision marching drills after which the unit will close up to present a program of excerpts from five of Sousa's favorite marches. The groups will then combine to form giant G and E figures.

American GI Spoils Debut Of All-Stars

(By The Associated Press) TOKYO (AP)—An American minor league availing discharge from the U. S. Army today ruined the Japanese debut of Ed Lopat's U.S. major league all-stars.

Pfc. Charlie Hood of Norristown, Pa., lined a 9th inning double off Robin Roberts, Philadelphia Phil's ace, to drive in a runner and give the Mainichi Orions a 5-4 victory.

Hood, 25, is owned by the Phils and thus is a potential teammate of Roberts. He played with Utica in the Eastern League in 1950.

Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs and Eddie Robinson of the Philadelphia Athletics hit homers for the all-stars.

Blackhawks In Sixth Defeat

(By The Associated Press) Chicago's hapless Blackhawks still are without a National Hockey League victory today, although they came within six minutes of one Thursday night.

The Hawks dropped their sixth game of the year (they've tied one) as the Montreal Canadiens came from behind for a 3-2 decision. The win put the Frenchmen in a tie for first place with the Detroit Red Wings.

In the only other game, the revamped New York Rangers opened their home season with a 4-3 triumph over the Boston Bruins.

Chicago drove to a 2-1 lead on goals by Bill Gadsby and Bill Mosienko. But Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion deadlocked the score for Montreal and Ken Mosdell added the winning tally with less than two minutes remaining.

At New York, the Rangers jumped off to a three goal lead in the opening session, only to have the Bruins battle back for a pair in the second. They traded tallies in the third as the New Yorkers moved into fourth place ahead of the losers.

Grand Slam Homer Records Are Tied

NEW YORK (AP)—One major league record and a National League mark were tied as a result of bases-filled home runs during the 1953 season, Associated Press statistics showed today.

Ray Boone, by walloping four grand-slams, equalled the major league standard held by nine other players, among them Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. He got two with Cleveland and two more after being traded to Detroit in June.

TACKLE PRACTICE—Two Escanaba Eskymos are shown above in the type of body contact that has marked Coach Joe Milokna's drills as the Eskymos get ready for Gladstone Saturday afternoon. Dick Johnson is shown driving in to tackle Jerry DeShambo. Escanaba entertains Gladstone Saturday, with the opening kickoff scheduled for 2 p. m. The game will close Gladstone's 1953 campaign. Escanaba has one remaining contest, a home stand against Ironwood on Oct. 31. (Daily Press Photo)

Ring Collapses In Grand Rapids Bout

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Fighters flew around the Grand Rapids Stadium Thursday night as if propelled from a giant slingshot.

Loose ring ropes gave when hit solidly by the fighters' backs then snapped back like a slingshot.

Attempts to tighten the ropes ended with the whole ring collapsing. It took half an hour to get it up again for the main event between Lester Felton, 148, Detroit, and Luther Rawlings, 148, Chicago.

Felton won an unanimous 10-round decision.

Lions Leave For West Coast Two-Game Jaunt

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions left today for the rocky West Coast, where they'll meet, on successive weekends, San Francisco and Los Angeles in a murderous two-game road trip which could wreck their championship hopes.

It's a virtual necessity for the Lions to win at least one of the games. They play San Francisco Sunday and the Rams next Sunday.

A pair of losses would leave the Lions with a 3-3 record. A split would leave them with a 4-2 mark and the roughest part of the schedule behind them.

On the other hand, a two-game sweep by Buddy Parker's crew could give it a lead which may never be overcome.

Some thought the 49ers would be a soft touch since their ace quarterback, Y. A. Tittle, is out with a fractured cheekbone. But the Lions can expect San Francisco to be as tough as ever. They pounded out a 35-28 victory last week over the Chicago Bears.

Two weeks ago the Lions edged the 49ers, 24-21, and looked like they were ready to pull far ahead of the field. But last Sunday the Rams upset the Detroiters, 31-19, and created a three-way tie for the lead in the NFL's Western Division.

Two Midwest Grid Speedsters In Race

NEW YORK (AP)—The slim margin of three conversions separates a pair of Midwest speedsters who are running wild to lead the nation's football scorers.

Kent Finanger of Luther College (Iowa) and Barry Frakes of Monmouth College (Ill.) each have scored 13 times so far this season but Finanger has been successful on 13 of 19 points after touchdowns tries while Frakes has hit 10 of 19. Finanger has played in six games and Frakes in five.

National League Head Against New Circuit

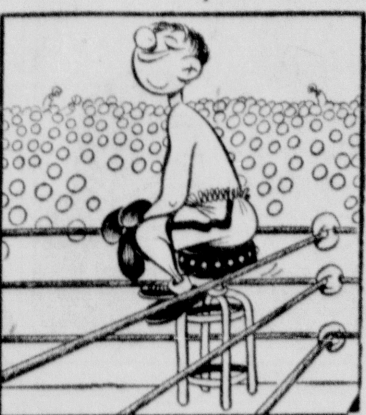

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Warren Giles, president of the National League, believes major league baseball on a broader scale will come from expansion of the National and American leagues rather than creation of a third major league. Fans will not accept a third major league if it is "merely a group of eight new cities," Giles declared in a speech Thursday night at the annual dinner of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce.

Undefeated Big Ten Teams Are Given Nod

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten's three unbeaten teams—Michigan State, Michigan, and Illinois—are all favored to extend their victory streaks Saturday.

The toughest job appears to be Michigan's. The Wolverines invade Minneapolis for resumption of the Little Brown Jug rivalry with Minnesota, beaten three times. Michigan, with four straight triumphs, is a one touchdown favorite.

Boast Big Edge

Michigan State is a 14-point favorite at Purdue. The Spartans will be shooting for their 29th successive victory, their fifth of the season, and fourth in Big Ten competition. Purdue, highly regarded before the season started, has failed to win against Missouri, Notre Dame, Duke and Wisconsin.

Illinois' tremendous running attack, No. 1 in the nation, is expected to jolt Syracuse, winner of three of four starts.

The Illini are rated a 20-point edge by the experts.

Buckeyes Are Hurt

Ohio State, riddled by injuries, faces a severe test at Wisconsin. The Buckeyes haven't been the same since Illinois blasted them 41-20 two weeks ago. Their fine quarterback, John Barton, may not play because of injury. The official "line" gives Ohio State a three point edge over the Badgers, who gained stature by whipping Purdue 28-19.

In the only other conference game, Iowa invades Indiana. The Hoosiers have only one victory in four starts, beating Marquette 21-20. Iowa has a 2-2 record and is a 13-point favorite.

Pittsburgh, after giving Notre Dame a rough time before losing 23-14, is at Northwestern for a game rated as a toss-up.

Garth Panter Takes On Pierre Langlois

NEW YORK (AP)—Pierre Langlois of France and Garth Panter of Saul Lake City, a pair of live-lime middleweights, meet tonight in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

It will be carried on ABC radio and NBC TV at 9 p. m., CST. Langlois has a 59-12-4 record for 75 fights with 12 knockouts. The 27-year-old Frenchman has been stopped twice.

Panter, 23, has a 49-12-2 career record, stopping 35 opponents. He never has been knocked out.

Durando Will Meet French Middleweight

PARIS (AP)—Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N.J., opposes France's Charles Humez in a 10-round bout at the Paris Sports Palace tonight with the winner hopeful of getting a shot at Carl (Bobo) Olson's newly-acquired middleweight crown.

Humez lost a decision to Turpin last June in the European finals of the middleweight tourney.

Mightiest Of Mighty Clash In No. 1 Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame and Georgia Tech, mightiest of the mighty, meet Saturday in the No. 1 game of the college football season.

Georgia Tech, unbeaten in its past 31 games, has come along fast after a shaky start. Notre Dame, undefeated this year, has reigned as the top team in the land in every weekly Associated Press football poll to date.

This isn't the only big one of the program, though. In the Big Ten, for example, Michigan, one of the top contenders, must get past strong Minnesota. In the Southwest, Texas and Rice, either of which could pick up the marbles, tangle at Austin. On the Pacific Coast, California will try to get back in the race by beating Southern California.

Maryland Plays Tonight

Tonight, the big one pits Maryland, the third-ranked team in the country, against the University of Miami at Miami. This figures to be nothing more than a brisk workout for the terrors of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Georgia Tech's coach, Bobby Dodd, thinks he has his boys "up" for the Irish—and the team itself thinks it can win at South Bend.

Leon Hardeman is the Tech high scorer and unless Notre Dame can stop him and his running mate, Glenn Turner, the Engineers will cause trouble.

Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy is his usual pessimistic self. For one thing, he can't understand why his club has been named No. 1. He also pointed out that the South Benders have had all the best of the breaks.

Lattner Ready To Go

"Maybe we won't be so lucky one of these days," he said darkly. "Maybe Tech won't make any mistakes and then where'll we be."

Johnny Lattner's strained heel muscle has come around and Ralph Guglielmi, the fierce Notre Dame one-two punch, are set and rarin' to go.

Michigan State, No. 2 in the national rankings, figures to strengthen its Big Ten stock when it plays Purdue, an outfit without much punch—at least in the Spartans' league.

While Texas and Rice are clanking at each other Baylor, the sixth-ranked school and slight favorite for the Southwest Conference crown, fackles Texas A & M. The Bears will rule heavy favorites.

Navy Meets Penn

Illinois, right in the middle of the Big Ten scramble with Michigan State and Michigan, has a date with Syracuse, and the East-erners will get a look at the Illini's sophomore sockers, J. C. Caroline and Mickey Bates.

West Virginia, Oklahoma and Navy, the eighth, ninth and tenth-ranked teams, go into action, respectively, against Virginia Military Institute, Colorado and Penn. Navy, which even Coach Eddie Ederlatz (like Leahy a charter member of the pessimists club) admits is "probably" the best Middle eleven since the end of World War II, could run into trouble against Penn.

Soo Line Ends Sunday Service

Beginning this weekend and continuing each weekend thereafter, Sunday passenger service will be discontinued by the Soo Line railroad and Passenger Trains Nos. 7 and 8 will be operated six days weekly instead of daily.

This is being done in an effort to effect a reduction in the losses sustained by passenger train service.

One of the most serious problems facing the entire railroad industry today is the large and continuing deficits incurred in the operation of passenger train service, according to a new release from the Soo Line.

"Unless the trend toward increasing passenger deficits is checked, the ability of the railroads, including the Soo Line, as a privately owned industry, to provide necessary freight and passenger service to the public, either under normal conditions or in time of emergency, will be seriously jeopardized," the release states.

Form New Unit Of Civics Club

Elected as officers were James Farrell, president; Yvonne Closs, vice president; Barbara Tardiff, recording secretary; Mary Sue Sabourin, corresponding secretary, and James LaLonde, sergeant-at-arms.

The purpose of this club is to help each member improve his citizenship by learning his civic rights and duties and also current problems and the general nature of his community.

These young citizens also get practice in acting with others for the good of the community. The club holds monthly meetings to discuss current problems, needs of the community and various members present methods used by other groups towards better social living.

The theme for this year's activities is "We're All People." In this the club members will learn something of the world community. The topics to be discussed at the next meeting will deal with the contributions to America made by the Spanish people.

Unusual Engine Tested By GM

DETROIT (AP)—The experimental automobile in which a General Motors executive was seriously injured in a test track crash Oct. 11 was powered by an "unusual" engine, according to the Detroit Free Press.

The newspaper's automotive writer, Leo Donovan, Wednesday night said that a reliable source reveals that Charles L. McCuen, vice president and head of GM's research laboratories division, was driving a sedan with "near atomic" power when he struck a proving ground test track guard rail. The source failed to amplify but Donovan said that he did not believe atomic power was involved.

He said the source disclosed that McCuen was driving an experimental car believed to have a gas turbine engine.

McCuen was reported making slow progress at Pontiac General Hospital today. He suffered a severe brain concussion in the crash.

Found Comfort In Bugle Call
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Over a period of several weeks Dickie Cooper, schoolboy studying trumpet, stepped out on the porch of his home and played the military bugle call "taps" each night at 9 p. m.

He and his family were relieved that the phone didn't jangle with protests. Then Dickie went away for a weekend. Neighbors called to inquire if he was sick. They missed the taps. Some said they'd lost sleep lying awake waiting for it.

Temple At Flint Blows Up, Burns

FLINT (AP)—The $85,000 CIO Flint Labor Temple was destroyed by fire Thursday after an explosion attributed to delivery of 200 gallons of gasoline instead of fuel oil.

A labor official and an oil delivery man suffered minor burns in the explosion Wednesday. The fire broke out 10 hours later.

Injured were Lawrence J. Finnin, 43, financial secretary of the Greater Flint Industrial Council, and Henry D. Williamson, driver for the Catsman Oil Co., who made the delivery.

They were treated at Hurley Hospital and released.

The disastrous oil delivery was discovered by Williamson after 200 gallons of gasoline were put in a fuel oil tank. Summoning help, he drained the tank.

Spilled gasoline touched off a flash fire that was quickly extinguished. The explosion at 8:05 p. m. was caused by a spark from an electric pump which ignited gasoline fumes, firemen said.

The explosion, heard for blocks, dislodged partitions, wrecked several offices and shattered windows.

Youthful Chess Player Holds Own With Experts

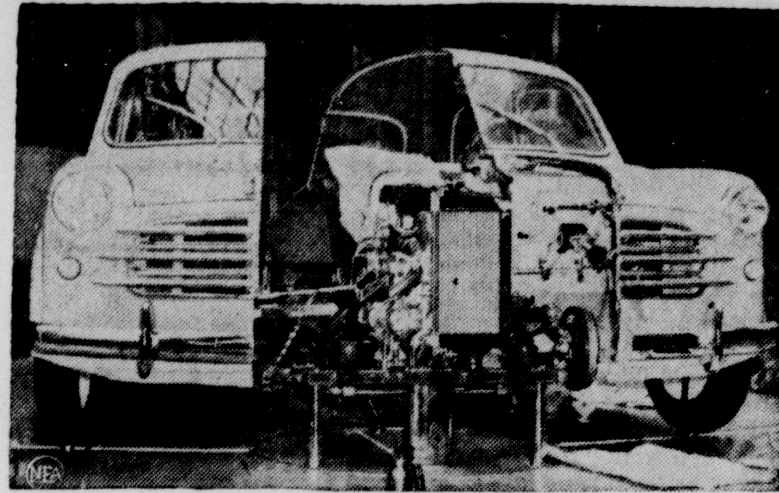

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A lad of 11 has mastered enough chess in 18 months to be rated today as perhaps the most promising young player in 30 years.

Larry Remlinger learned the fundamentals from his uncle, but soon was winning consistently. So he began to frequent the Long Beach Chess club. Now he can hold his own with any of the club's experts.

Herman Steiner, chess expert for the Los Angeles Times, says "Larry is as good as Samuel Reshevsky was at the same age."

Reshevsky came to the United States from Poland in 1921 as a 10-year-old chess wonder and has won the national championships several times. Young Larry won't get any chess instructions from his parents—neither plays.

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Georgia calls itself the Peach State, but South Carolina long ago surpassed it in the production and export of the fruit.

Alfred Breeding, a Manning, S. C., service station operator, reports growing a sunflower one foot taller than Mrs. Barber's plant.

Cancer Resisted By 7 Out Of 8

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Seven out of eight persons have a natural ability to resist cancer, an American Cancer Society official reports.

Dr. Ian MacDonald, president of the society's California division and associate clinical professor of surgery at the University of Southern California, told a news conference Wednesday he believes in most cases the natural resistance triumphs, and the cancer never develops.

If the opposing forces are near balance the cancer may grow slowly and may be discovered in time. The defense mechanism may still be victorious at this stage, he said, with or without medical aid.

But if the defense mechanism is overpowered at the beginning, death usually comes quickly.

Highly developed cancers which disappeared without treatment have been recorded, and MacDonald cited these in support of his theory.

MacDonald reported that 3 out of 10 cancer cases are being cured today and the figure could be boosted to 5 if the public heeded fully the warning of cancer groups to take advantage of detection surveys and to respond otherwise to danger signals.
